Bio

Dini Petty is a Canadian icon. Celebrity, mother, author, entrepreneur, daredevil and free spirit, she is a remarkably accomplished woman. Motivated for success, she is a helicopter pilot, a radio and television personality, talk show host, and successful writer and poet. Although Dini makes success look easy, she has had her share of struggles. She shares the story of her discovery of inner strength, and shows audiences how to get back in touch with their own instincts, increasing self-confidence and self-esteem. [morelink]

Topics

Surviving Change or The Soul of the Matter

After some 40 years of public speaking and surveying the audiences to find out what their greatest personal and professional problems are, the answers are always the same. We all have the same problems. Dini explores self-esteem, instinct, expectations, multi-tasking & the rabbit hole in her new presentation.

The Success of Failure

Full of real-life examples and hilarious anecdotes, Petty will have listeners laughing and nodding their heads in agreement. This is no “motivational” speech, but rather one of inspiration, with a healthy dose of reality. Audiences will leave feeling uplifted, inspired, and ready to take on new challenges, knowing the process of trying, and of learning when things go wrong is just as important, if not more so, than the end result.
