Bio

Bartenders aren't automatically the people most think of as "CNN Heroes," but that is exactly what Doc Hendley, the founder of Wine To Water, became after he followed his dream to save thousands of lives around the world by providing those in need with clean drinking water. Proving that ordinary people can change the world, Hendley recounts the experiences that led him to start his non-profit and inspires audiences to understand that one person can indeed make a difference.
