Bio

Shane Feldman believes community is the answer to every question, and the solution to every problem. Recognized by The White House, The Prime Minister of Canada, and The United Nations for his achievements in community leadership, he helps leading brands optimize team culture, leadership, engagement, and retention.

Feldman is the founder of Count Me In, the world-renowned social entrepreneurship incubator and community of 10.2 million people across 104 countries. Over the past decade, Count Me In has launched more than 30,000 ventures worldwide, contributing a value of over $2.6 billion to the global economy through service.

Having researched community leadership and human behaviour in over 25 countries, Feldman has uncovered universal strategies that make teams click and businesses thrive. His inspiring sessions offer key insights that equip audiences with the tools needed to build trust and empower human connection and allow individuals and teams to connect more authentically and perform at their highest levels. Feldman has worked with some of the world's most dynamic companies including Google, Microsoft, and Disney.

Feldman has been featured in top media outlets including Larry King, Dr. Oz, Forbes, and People magazine. He is also the subject of a documentary TV series from A&E, which follows his community building work.
