BATA Shoe Museum

Combine the originality of a Conundrum Adventure with the uniqueness of North America's foremost Shoe Museum and you get a great team event alternative!

Located just west of Toronto's Bloor/Yorkville district (at the corner of St. George and Bloor Streets), this engaging museum is the perfect venue for indoor team games. You'll have the opportunity to search through one of the world's finest shoe collections for solutions to a variety of mind-bending challenges.

But take note - this adventure is not solely about shoes. Your team event may have you assist a wealthy socialite with her party guests, decipher North American Indian symbols, or perhaps even perform a Moravian wedding custom. Throughout your team event you'll be continuously fascinated by this entertaining venue and its comprehensive collections.

Don't know the difference between pumps and pumas? No problem - you won't need any previous in-depth knowledge about footwear to successfully waltz through these team games!

Also, in order to facilitate your entire team event or conference, your adventure booking includes the use of a Museum conference room for the day.
