

Downtown Toronto

- During your team building event you could embark on a puzzle-filled excursion around Toronto's financial and entertainment districts, where people usually come to work, dine out in fashionable restaurants, or take in a show. However, you won't be engaging in any of these pastimes. Rather, you might meet a farmer, "pick-up" a stranger in Toronto's smallest bar, or decipher a constellation of stars as part of your team building adventure.
- Alternatively you could navigate your way through Toronto's busiest shopping district, where you might normally cross paths with politicians, students, tourists, and of course shoppers. But your team building experience will be a little different, as you encounter a band of rock stars, negotiate with a slick ticket scalper, and help a lost temp worker.
- Sleuth around Toronto's bustling downtown market district amongst parks, pubs, murals, and merchants. This eclectic neighbourhood provides a great setting for your team building adventure, which may have you seeking out exotic ingredients, discovering the birthplace of standard time, and finding a plaza used a century ago for public hangings.

Each of these routes is suitably located within minutes of most downtown Toronto offices, with starting and finishing points that can be customized to make your Team-Building Toronto experience as convenient as possible.
